

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A first signal path is connected to a first plane via a plated hole. A first metal flood is connected to the plated hole to form a first plate. A second signal path is on a second plane. A second metal flood connected to the second signal path to form a second plate above the first plate.

1. A first signal path is connected to a first plane via a plated hole. A first metal flood is connected to the plated hole to form a first plate. A second signal path is on a second plane. A second metal flood connected to the second signal path to form a second plate above the first plate.